"KUM TO THE SIKRUS. YOU'LL GET YOURS."

Camel Tracks

When it is all over and the Sirkus is a big success, don't try to butt in and want any of the credit. This is for the benefit of those who have not seen fit to come up to the office of the publicity department and suggest something or at least say "howdy" and look as if they were really glad that the big noise was going to come off on scheduled time.

Somewhere in the lobby of the Hotel Adams made a noise like a pan deck yesterday and four nobles, you have two guesses to name any one of them, nearly threw a fit, each, trying to locate the sound.

P. T. Barnum never had anything on the brand of bunk that will be unloaded on the purchasers of seats to the Shrine Sirkus. The Mexican bandit warfare may have hung up some records but this will make anything so far in the cruelty line look like amusing babies with a comforter.

There is a Shriner who lives here but who pays dues up in Kansas—his name won't be mentioned, but it sounds like what grandma throws to the little birds after the morning meal—who is going to try and make Billy Rice's record as a clown look like a switzer cheese. He says that when he gets started, this sunflower Arab, all the other merry-makers will look like funeral directors.

Ever know where Cartoonist Powers got the inspiration for his glooms? No? Well, just happen around when Harry Friedman sees some one ahead of him in the race for the most popular shriner, and you can grab the dope.

The suits for the camels will arrive this week and if you get up some morning and see a triple-humped ship of the desert doing a marathon down some of the side-streets, don't get the gun. It may only be George Mauk or Shirley Christy practicing for the Sirkus. They are going to impersonate camels and they will have to hump them selves to be ready. Quick, Watson, the needle.

Contracts were let today for the building of a sixteen-foot revolving ladder to be used by Bill Simpson and Jim Parker in a highly entertaining and amusing stunt during the Shrine Sokum Sirkus, and the morning betting in Jerusalem is that both of them will go to the hospital before the second performance. But at that, the Shrine doctors will have a lot to do and that's helping some.

Already the editor has been threatened with a Black Hand communication. However, he is not in fear and says that he will hand the writer a bunch that will make him think the San Francisco earthquake is being staged over again if said Black Hand sends in any other unsigned letters. The editor doesn't want anyone to know whom he suspects, but will say that his initials are L. J.

Eugene Goldman is rapidly rounding to form as a maker of fun, and will shine in the front ranks when he has mastered the art of smearing his mug with flake white and getting inside of a clown suit without the aid of a shoe horn.

Can you picture Doctor Nichols arrayed in pink lights and short skirts with his bodice cut V in the back and C in front, offering for sale his photos. He is just too cute for anything, and one of the boys who caught him studying a set smile to be used in the act, says that Doc has anything tied that he has seen since his mother-in-law threw a fit and fell into the canal.

Rosene, who peddles pills by day and sometimes at night, is going to be the real McCoy when it comes to side-show freaks. His act will be presented without the aid of a mus-tache, and the dispenser of paragonic thinks he is going to sell more photos than any one of the trans-planted freaks.

Arthur Hulet, who is boosting for the world's greatest "take it away from them circus" was right peevish the other day when he went up to have his face perpetuated on one of the dry plates in the Heath museum. He wanted Heath to take his hair curly, and they had to stop the deal until a curling iron could be added to the dummies and dress suits furnished by the photographer. Oh, you Arthur, you'll have to step some to win that Shrine emblem.

Clay Parker wants to go on record as the father of the following recipe for pudding. He says that he learned it while hunting for a job, and hoping he could not locate it, and that it is one of those handy things to have around the house. Take two quarts of carpet rags; let them come to a boil (or a carbuncle will do); pour off the juice and mix with a pair of old socks; strain through a fine tooth comb; let stand until it turns to jelly and serve in bath tubs. It is said to be very "delicious."

Work will start in the next few days on the circus seats to be erected in the Gardens to accommodate the crowds expected for the big time May 27 to 30. The seats will run on two sides of the concession enclosure and will accommodate

TAXPAYERS AND TAX COMMISSION TO MEET

Monday May 11 Set as Date for Joint Conference

That the state taxpayers' association recently organized in the state is getting down to businesslike co-operative methods is evidenced by the fact that at the invitation of the association the state tax commission and state examiner will meet with the executive committee of the association on Monday May 11 for full discussion of ways and means whereby the state officials and the association can co-operate in carrying into effect the objects of the association.

Governor Hunt has also been invited to this conference as well as state and county officials who have to do with tax matters. President Tharaldson of the state association stated this morning that one of the results of the conference will be to obtain material and ideas for subject matter for the official organ of the association which will shortly be issued devoted exclusively to tax matters.

There are many problems which confront the tax commission, one, in particular, being the lack of information in tax matters and the officials of the association hope to assist the commission in carrying to the taxpayers generally through the medium of the magazine, knowledge that will permit every taxpayer to intelligently understand state, county and municipal revenue questions.

Secretary Whitmarsh of the association reports that much interest is being taken in the work of the association due mostly to the circulars being sent out and the active work of the trustees in each county. Yesterday's mail brought in twenty applications from one locality which is a sample of the way the association is growing.

more than two thousand people when completed.

Noble Heath left for Tucson last night where he goes to try and show the bunch there what they are missing by not having their pictures in the big souvenir edition which is to mark the opening day of the Shrine Sirkus.

Fred Kenyon, who sells M. J. B. (whatever that is), and who incidentally is one of the best fellows who ever got away from the gate, is in town to add his mite to the success of the Shrine Sirkus, and he says that he is going to be here on the fateful days if he has to toss up his job, and walk in from the coast.

The Pullman reservations for the trip of the Shrine Bunch to Bisbee and Douglas, May 11, promise that there will be the largest caravan leaving here that has ever wended its way to another oasis. The preparations for the trip are in the hands of George Mauk, who will reserve space for those who are still making up their minds to go with the party. Two Pullmans and one baggage car of properties to be used in the initiation will make up the train.

QUO VADIS
GEORGE KLEINE'S FAMOUS PRODUCTION

Roosevelt School Notes

The second primary room made a little departure from the regular order of business on Friday afternoon and had a short program given by the pupils. The unique feature was that the children prepared the program entirely by themselves, the teacher not even knowing what they were to put on. It was an experiment that worked out beautifully and brought to light some latent ability for managing on the part of the youngsters. They have been practicing at nouns and recesses all the week under their leaders and Miss Barsh was very well pleased with the results.

Last year with children coming from so many different schools most of them without report cards, it was rather difficult to properly classify them. Many were behind their grades, i.e., where the grades ought to be as that was necessary in some cases to do almost two years' work in one in order to be able to start this year off up-to-date. They did so well, however, that they are coming out several places ahead. Two or three classes have already finished their texts leaving three weeks for a good thorough review. Scholarships in school is the medium through which all other things, such as general culture, good citizenship responsibility, etc., are brought about. Hence scholarship is paramount.

Mrs. Franklin's room including the seventh grade took a half holiday on Friday, April 24 at "The Willows." Several of the mothers attended and assisted in giving the youngsters a good time. A sumptuous feast was spread including ice cream and cake. The annual school picnic will probably be held at the river two weeks from next Friday. Every one invited. Debates are quite the order in the grammar room now. The seventh grades have been holding debates for the past week regularly in place of reading which they have finished. They have developed some real worthy opponents. Last Friday P. M. the members of the eighth and ninth grades debated on the question, Resolved, that steamships are more useful than railroads, and the negative side won at a score of 12 to 9. Next Friday the question is, Resolved that the cotton industry is more important than the wool industry. Drop in and enjoy an hour with the school from two to three next Friday and incidentally learn where one would be up against in an argument with a member of these grades.

Visitors last week were: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Austen, Mrs. John Wells and Mrs. Allan Wilkinson, and Mrs. J. E. Fitzer.

The eighth grade have their plans well under way for the closing exercises. The valedictorian is Esther Chipman and the salutatorian, Myrtle Champlin. These were chosen on a basis of scholarship alone throughout the year. The valedictorian is given to the student of highest grade and salutation to next highest. There was but one point difference between the two and both were high.

Rosetta and Alton Homes will move to Mesa with their parents this week and will be much missed in the intermediate room.

The last entertainment was well attended and the funds therefrom were ample for the balance of this year's payment on the piano.

Helen Nolan entered the eighth grade on Monday.

PRIMARY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Austen, Mrs. A. Wilkinson, Mrs. Geo. Cate and Mrs. Richards were recent visitors in the primary department.

Three new scholars entered during the past month, Geneva Molina, Joseph Kordeck and Carl Dean.

There are only three more weeks before school closes for the summer vacation. Come and visit now, before it is too late.

The first primary children were delighted with the May baskets which they made and filled last Friday.

WINSOME CELESTIAL WOMAN IS DETAINED

Quock Young's Entangled Matrimonial Affairs Leads to Continued Trouble

Quock Young, alias Mrs. Wong Flee, winsome Chinese woman, who was one of the principals in a shooting affray in Phoenix several months ago, had more troubles heaped upon her shoulders yesterday when United States Commissioner Johnstone decided that the young woman was an undesirable visitor to American shores. Quock Young maintains that she was married in China and brought to America by her first husband; that she was divorced an afterward married Wong Flee, a wealthy Phoenix Chinaman.

Government authorities charge that the young woman was brought to this country for immoral purposes, and that she has been remaining in the United States.

Information given to federal officers reveals a strange story of celestial matrimonial entanglement. The young woman, handsome to a high degree for a Chinese, is said to have won the love of a young Chinese who was killed in a shooting affray. It was said at the time that the Chinese had killed himself because he knew he could not have Quock Young for his wife.

Wong Flee, the present husband, is said to favor her deportation because he would rather see his beloved one in China than to have her remain in America and become the wife of another in the land of his adoption. Wong Flee is rich, and used his wealth to aid his pretty wife in her present difficulty. He has furnished $1,000 bail, which enables Quock Young to walk about the streets in freedom these days instead of being held a prisoner of the government. Sparkling jewels on the Chinese woman's fingers and throat also attest to the attentions paid her by her husband.

The woman has determined to fight her case through to a higher tribunal. Commissioner Johnstone will hear the motion for a new trial next Friday. If the motion is refused, as seems probable, the case will be appealed.

KLEINE'S NEW CANDLE THEATRE IS OPENED

Rewarded When Splendid Playhouse Opens

(Special to The Republican)
NEW YORK, May 4.—When the new Candle theatre, on Forty-second street, just west of Broadway, opened with "Antony & Cleopatra" today, Mr. George Kleine, the well known producer of "Quo Vadis," "For Napoleon and France," etc., saw another of his dreams for the betterment of the photo-drama come true.

Mr. Kleine long has desired a theater in New York where he could make the opening productions of his large spectacles, presenting them on a scale never before suggested. This plan will now be carried out as the new theater has been built solely with a view to presenting motion pictures. Consequently, it differs from a theater built for the spoken drama in many particulars. Everything has been done to insure a picture second to none in the country. A symphony orchestra has been engaged and rehearsals have been going on for some time. Rehearsals for a motion picture possibly seem unnecessary but where the picture is accompanied by a symphony orchestra it is necessary to carefully work out the music, arrange cues, etc., exactly as for a musical comedy.

Owing to delays in completing this new house, our city has had the pleasure of witnessing "Antony and Cleopatra" before its New York presentation, something which very rarely happens. The great crowds which attended its presentation in this city, however, proved that the west recognizes something really artistic and beautiful without waiting for the endorsement of New York.

GLENDALE

Miss Margaret Meagher, of Glendale, is the correspondent of The Arizona Republican in that district and will be glad to receive all items of news at the Glenwood hotel.

A new Sunday school was organized in the Madison district Sunday afternoon, which will in all probability affiliate with the Maricopa County Sunday School association as soon as the organization can be perfected and the remaining members of the official board elected.

A goodly crowd of interested Sunday school workers were present at the Madison school near Orangewood on Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. D. Himebaugh was chairman of the meeting. Short addresses were made by the chairman, Ben Kimber, R. C. Dryer, Walter Hill and Mr. Johnson.

When the election of superintendent was over it was found that P. A. Lotterbos was elected with Miss Belknap secretary and Mrs. Hendricks treasurer.

There will be another meeting next Sunday afternoon at which time further officers will be elected. It is desired that all who are interested in this work attend promptly at 3 o'clock. Then classes will be arranged and teachers chosen.

Just a Roll—but what a Roll!

You know what a roll can be—and what it can fail to be. Flour isn't all—"rising" isn't all—even making and baking skill are not all. Just that little dab of shortening you put in plays a big part in perfection.

Crusto might have been invented just for making better rolls. There is a delicacy of flavor to a Crusto made roll—a light fluffiness to the inside and a brown crustiness to the outside that is wonderful when you consider how apparently small a part the shortening might be supposed to play. Crusto is pure—it is tasteless.

Crusto is as cheap as and much better than lard for baking and frying—better and cheaper than cooking butter.

CARPENTIER'S TOUR OF WORLD DELAYED A BIT

Match With Gunboat Smith Will Set Back Plans of French Light-Heavy

(Associated Press Dispatch)
PARIS, May 4.—The plans of Georges Carpentier, the French light-heavyweight, for a tour of the world have been set back as the result of the match made with Gunboat Smith. This bout is to be held in London late in June and the fact that the match was made after Carpentier was in receipt of excellent offers for such a tour indicates clearly the confidence of the French pugilist and his backers. According to preliminary negotiations between M. Descamp, manager of Carpentier and "Showey" Baker, the Australian fight promoter, Carpentier was to have received $50,000 and expenses for three bouts in Australia. It was proposed to match him with Dave Smith, Eddie McGoorty and a third opponent with an interval of several weeks between bouts. Carpentier was expected to return to France via America, meeting several boxers of prominence while in the United States.

This campaign, which would have netted the French boxer many thousands of dollars, was the principal reason for his exemption for another year, from French army service. If he should succeed in defeating Smith his ability as a drawing card will be greatly increased, but should Carpentier be counted out there will be little demand for his services in either Australia or the United States so far as championship and his backers have every ship-bouts are concerned. That Carpentier is shown by this change in the Frenchman's campaign, notwithstanding that Smith is generally considered the equal of Joe Jeannette, who won a recent decision from Carpentier after twenty rounds of fast boxing.

Pittsburg, Pa. also now boasts a girl motorcycleist—Miss Elsie E. Endler.

A Spring Vacation

Most stomachs need a rest after the heavy work of the usual winter diet.

What is needed is easily digested food—food that furnishes plenty of nourishment, but with least tax upon the digestive organs.

Grape-Nuts

is that kind of food!

Made of prime whole wheat and barley, it contains all the rich nutrition of these food grains, and by long baking is partially predigested. It comes crisp, delicious and ready to eat when the package is opened.

Grape-Nuts digests usually in about one hour (Bread, for instance, requires about 3½ hours).
